

YorkU Class Scraper Dictionary Format

Hussein Esmail

June 9, 2022

1 How This Guide is Formatted

This guide is made using L<sup>A</sup>T<sub>E</sub>X, a typesetting document format, mainly used for large documents like STEM documents, theses, and research papers. To read more about what I think about L<sup>A</sup>T<sub>E</sub>X, you can go here.

2 Format

Course

- Department (Example: “LE”)
- Code (Example: “EECS”)
- Num (Example: “2001” for EECS 2001)
- Credits (Example: “3.0”)
- Title
- URL
- Description
- Sections
  - Section A
    - * ...
  - Section B
    - * ...
  - Section C
    - * Term (Examples: “F”, “W”, “SU”, “S1”, ...)
    - * Year (Examples: “2019”, “2020”, ...). Since F/W terms are on the same page
    - * Code (Examples: “A”, “B”, “M”, “N”, ...)
    - * Profs
    - * CAT
    - * LECT
      - Day (MTWRF)
      - Time (24h)
      - Duration
      - Location
    - * TUTR
      - CAT
      - Day (MTWRF)
      - Time (24h)
      - Duration
      - Location

- TA
- Num (Example: “02” for TUTR 02)
- * LAB
  - CAT
  - Day (MTWRF)
  - Time (24h)
  - Duration
  - Location
  - TA
  - Num (Example: “02” for LAB 02)